"Committed to personal touch and professional excellence"

Based in the town centre for over 70 years the firm has developed from its private client roots to specialise in diverse areas of law not always found in high street practices. We believe in the importance of adopting a commercial and pragmatic approach to our clients' needs. We also recognise that mutual referrals and networking are a key part of any service industry, which is why we are committed to BRE and its members. My goal is to give back business owners their lives. I do this by mentoring the owner in their business and personal goals, building a profitable and successful business which gives choices on investment or leisure opportunities and time to enjoy it. The best way to understand how this works is to take up one of my complimentary business health check sessions. 45 minutes where I will challenge you on the business strategies, financial planning, team and your time, also providing ideas and solutions. It's worth £250.
